We finally made it to Cochiti, Our first trip of the season was a good one. The weather was great, and the lake was calm all morning. Everyone got in a lot of flying, and lunch was better than ever. Flying at the field have gotten a little better with many calm mornings, and less wind during the day. Am heading East for a few weeks to be with old RC friends and do some flying in the New England hazy, hot, and humid air. Will see all at the Sat. meeting.
